

Monique Kochems, 13

“My father makes springs out of air for cool cars.”

Monique's father works together with car manufacturers to develop new spring/damper systems that make driving safer and more comfortable.

One of the world's most successful automotive suppliers.

Jürgen Kochems and his colleagues at ThyssenKrupp collaborated with automobile manufacturers to develop a completely new electronically controlled air suspension system that sets new standards of safety and comfort. As a worldwide partner to the auto industry we supply components, modules and systems together with a comprehensive range of services from a single source.

System solutions like this one are in demand all over the world. Another reason why ThyssenKrupp is such an attractive investment.

Visit us on the Internet: www.thyssenkrupp.com

Developing the future.

ThyssenKrupp

